CLAIMS 1-24 ARE PRESENTED FOR EXAMINATION

Duplicate Claims

Applicant is advised that should claim 19 be found allowable, claim 20 will be objected to under 37 CFR 1.75 as being a substantial duplicate thereof. When two claims in an application are duplicates or else are so close in content that they both cover the same thing, despite a slight difference in wording, it is proper after allowing one claim to object to the other as being a substantial duplicate of the allowed claim. See MPEP § 706.03(k).

Claim Objection

Claim 13 is objected to because of the following informality:

At line 1, "athersclerosis" should be spelled ---atherosclerosis---. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejection - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-10, 13, 14, 17-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Cooper et al. (U.S. Patent Application Publication No. 2003/0232796) who teach a pharmaceutical composition comprising polycosan-1-ol (a.k.a. policosan-1-ol) and the HMG-CoA reductase inhibitors atorvastatin, fluvastatin, lovastatin, pravastatin and/or simvastatin and a carrier material that may be glycerol (a.k.a. glycerine) and polyethylene glycol as well as a method for the treatment of hypercholesterolemia which comprises the administration of the above composition to a patient. See pages 14-21, claims 1, 11, 12 (lines 4 and 9), 38, 41, 66, 94, 97 and 100.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cooper et al., as above in view of Brox (U.S. Patent No. 4,744,988).

The differences between the above and the claimed subject matter lie in that Cooper et al. fail to teach:

(1) a soft gel capsule having a liquid carrier;

Art Unit: 1614

(2) mevastatin and/or cerivastatin as HMG-CoA reductase inhibitors; and

(3) the claimed kit having multiple packages for each component of the composition.

However, to the skilled artisan, the claimed subject matter would have been obvious because:

(1) Cooper et al. teaches that any pharmaceutically acceptable dosage form may be utilized (page 4, col. 1, section [0030], lines 2-3 thereof) while Brox teaches a soft gel capsule having a liquid filling carrier as being a pharmaceutically acceptable dosage form (abstract and col. 4, lines 49-63). The skilled artisan would have been motivated to employ the capsule of Brox because of the above teachings.

(2) Cooper et al. teaches that HMG-CoA reductase inhibitors in general may be employed (page 7, section [0082], first and last line thereof) and the selection of any known HMG-CoA reductase inhibitor from those known to the skilled artisan would have been a mere matter of choosing from among obvious alternatives.

(3) The determination of the optimum packaging system to employ would have clearly been well within the purview of the skilled artisan and the artisan would have been motivated to do so in order to facilitate both manufacturing and shipment of the product.

The references cited by the Examiner on the attached form PTO-892 and not relied upon are included to show the general state of the art.

None of the claims are allowed.
